Youldriday was decidedly the most encouraging day the charty movement has yet experienced. The weather was unpropitions for out-of-door-activity, but the real griends of the needy are not fair-weather workers, and the cause was materially advanced. On every hand the magnitude of the glun and the remarkable research. required considerable courage to undertake, but the persistent endeavors to a waken public interest in the charitable institutions was at last success-subscribe to any object whatever. My reason for this was that a great many people in the Depart ments were too poor to purchase such tickets, and the offering of them for sale might seem computation of the rule to protect those whom I thought were justily entitled to some such protection. I will, however, in this instance reached the rule to passes, and I am sure everyone will be but too happy to aid it as much as possible.

Heporter. Will you head the list of purchasers? The President. With pleasure. I had intended to purchase from the beginning of the movement. You can put me down for twenty-five tickets now. He number of entertainments are given I shall probably purchase more.

Heporter. We may need flags and flowers for decorations.

The President. The flags you will get at the

The President. The flags you will get at the War and Navy Departmente, and I presume the Secretaries will willingly loan them. We do not have so many flowers in our conservatory as pedple imagine, but by letting us know a few days in advance we can manage to give you quite a supply. We will do all we can for you in this respect. The movement is a most praiseworthy one, and I will gladly be of any assistance I can to promote THE REPUBLICAN representative bade the Pres-

Some daysago Maj. Hichards, Superintendento Police, expressed his willingness to assist the sale of tickets as much as possible through his department, but felt a delicacy about assuming the responsibility of directing the sale without permis-sion of the board. Yesterday the police commis-sioners hold their regular weekly meeting and manimously passed a resolution permitting the male of tickets by the officers of the force, and to-day the police of each of the precincts with be supplied with them.

A GOLD MEDAS. either the police or fire department who shall seil the largest number of tickets for the charity entertainments. The medal will be a large and valuable one, handsomely gotten up, suitably engraved, and presented to the successful competitor from the stage of the theatre, where the concluding performances will be given. Here is a worthy incentive to labor in the good cause aside from that of duty, for the medal will be a proud one to possess, and will confer honorable istinction upon him who may be fortunate enough

THE PUREMEY. Yesterday Chief Engineer Cronin was supplied with the first installment of tickets for the charity concerts, which are to be sold by the firemen. Three hundred was the number receipted for by the Chief Engineer, which will allow fifty to each company. The fire department are imeach company. The fire department are im-mensely popular in the District, and will undoubtedly effect a large sale. At the recent charity demonstration, which took place in New York, nearly the entire number of tickets sold about thirty thousand-was disposed of by the police and firemen. They can now go to work and aid in the good cause, over which the people are daily becoming more enthusiastic.

THE JOE JEFFERSON CLUB have definitely arranged to give their performan on the evening of Thursday, the 22d instant. They have selected the glorious three-act comedy, by Sterling Coyne, sutitled "Black Sheep," which, ti is said, has never been sated in Washington.
The farce of "To Oblige Benson" will also be included in the bill. The whole club will take part in the performance, which promises to be the best that the club ever gave. CORRESPONDENCE.

the persistence agreement to awaken public interest in the charitable institutions was at last success. Tail, and now those who were originally lukewarm fit the cause are among its most enthusiastic promoters. The fact furnishes abundant proof that the reacts of the people of the capital city are in the right place after all, and that their interest in the right place after all, and that their interest in the right place after all, and that their interest in the right place after all, and that their interest in the right place after all, and that their interest in the right place after all, and that their interest in the right place after all, and that their interest in the right place after all, and that their interest in the right place after all, and that their interest in the right place after all, and that their interest in the right place after all, and that their interest in the right place after all, and that their manual interest in the residence of Mrs. Justice Strong. Mrs. Dawes was present and formally accepted the position of secretary, when the laddes proceeded to business. The committees appointed to wait upon the laddes of the District made their reports, and it was feend that every person called upon gladly enrolled their names as co-operating with the committee, and promised to forward the movement as far as laid in their power. The laddes were greatly pleased and encouraged at the alacrity with which all called upon entered into the good work, and the fact was accepted as an additional favora-

Various matters connected with the management of the work were discussed, when it was agreed that an address be drawn up by the secretary, are signed by the managers and those who had leat their names as aiders in the movement. The following is

A series of charitable entertainments for the relief of the poor having been proposed, the response has been both immediate and generous. The ladies having the matter in charge desire to take this method of thanking those to whom they are already indebted, and of presenting the subject anew to those whose co-operation they desire. It would be superfluous at it is time to call attention to the urgent need that exists for the utmest that can be done in the way of charity, as well for the institutions established for that purpose as for individual cases.

The success of the present venture is, we trust, already assured; but the management is work and the management is success. I remain, but is the cause of charity and hoping that they may meet with a brilliant success. I remain, but is indicated the management is well to another suggestion seeing that my former one found such for the National Republican.

The success of the present venture is, we trust, already assured; but the managers seel that there may be many ladies whom they have been unable to see, or who may not be personally known to them, who would feel it a privilege, as well as a duty, to lend their assistance, either by the use of their names or otherwise. They will consider it a favor, not so much to them as to the common cause, if any such will give their names, for publication, to the secretary, or to any of the board of managers. The undersigned ladies have already signified their cordial co-operation and design for the complete success of the movement.
